Tibetréa

The music of Tibetréa is a journey through different times, countries and cultures. The five musicians set stories, myths and legends to music in a modern way, creating an energetic folk-rock sound with world music influences. This is powerful, danceable music that does not adhere to genre boundaries and where every song sounds different.

For over ten years the band has been combining guitar, drums and bass with exceptional folk instruments and several voices. So far, Tibetréa has not met another band with a trumpet and more than twenty sung languages at their Europe-wide concerts - that's definitely worth a journey!
